

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

A nation of 300 Million people needs more than the voice of just a few media conglomerates regurgitating the same old junk on multiple channels. We sit at home with 150 channels - and nothing to watch. Its all the same....reruns, pundits and the same guests over and over again on all the news channels as if on ly 50 or less people of 300 Million had something worth hearing to say. the media is silencing our voices. Giving them more power to silence us even further is easily found in the Clear Channel mess...play with them or don't play at all. Is this is democracy with public airwaves, or a corporate take over of america?
